

PRESS CONFERENCE SPEAKER BIOS

Carol Pryor is the senior policy analyst at The Access Project. She has more than 20 years of publications experience. In her seven years at The Access Project, she has researched and written numerous reports on medical debt and other health policy issues, including for The Commonwealth Fund and the Kaiser Family Foundation. She graduated from the University of California, Berkeley and received a Masters' degrees in Public Health and Education from Boston University.

Joseph P. Ditré, Esq., is the Executive Director of Consumers for Affordable Health Care Foundation based in Augusta, Maine. He directs, manages, and oversees the general operations of the organization and provides policy and legal analysis. Mr. Ditré has 23 years of experience in researching and analyzing private and public health insurance policies and programs. He has represented the interests of Medicaid and Medicare beneficiaries in Pennsylvania and Maine courts and in administrative hearings as a legal services attorney. He has authored numerous publications on health insurance reform, cost containment programs and policies, and health care spending. In 2003, he received both the Families USA Consumer Health Advocate of the Year Award for state-based coalition work, and the Special Recognition Award for his advocacy work from Common Cause/Maine. In 2006, he was appointed to the 20-member Blue Ribbon Commission on Dirigo Health by Governor John Baldacci. He graduated magna cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1980 and from the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1983.

Kathleen D. Stoll is the Director of Health Policy at Families USA. Families USA is a national organization representing the issues and interests of health care consumers. It is a non-profit and non-partisan advocate for affordable health care for all Americans. As Director of Health Policy, Ms. Stoll oversees Families USA's formulation of health policy positions and the analysis of specific health care proposals. Her department conducts research on health policy issues and authors reports for the media, policy decision makers, and health advocates. Ms. Stoll also oversees the delivery of technical assistance to state advocates and state legislators on health policy and programs.

Nancy Warrington lives in San Diego, California, with her husband and four year-old son.

Barbara Cook and her husband, E.J., are small-business owners in Mansfield, Illinois.

The Access Project
89 South Street, Suite 404
Boston, MA 02111
(617) 654-9911
www.accessproject.org